10 November 2025 Rovaniemi. It is rare to see sun at the same time with reflected cloud rays. This is what happened today – the cloud type, altostratus, allowed sun to shine some through. Regarding formation, both open and frozen up water bodies are an option, the latter is not yet covered by snow.

Forgot completely that of course the Ounasvaara 360 camera was taking care of this. Would not have bothered with my poor phone camera photos.
