Another snow gun running in Rovaniemi? At around 13:50 yesterday, on 21 Nov, a huge cloud erupts from the vicinity of the Jätkänkynttilä bridge, as shown by Ounasvaara and Koivusaari 360 cameras.

Went to investigate. They are making snow for some fantasy winterland, one of the workers told me. The festival opens after a week on Monday. Quite thick ice fog today, the buildings on the other side of river were shrouded. This did not seem to be water fog – I saw crystals glittering in the beam of my lamp and even little pillars from car lights here and there. Snowfall is arriving right as I write this and tonight there won't be chasing.
