I was wondering if the documentation is not convincing enough because no one is saying anything. But yeah, who would have thought? I was able to think only on the next day. I am sure anyone else would caught up sooner.

Photographed some crystals. Haven't been in a hurry to look because I am not optimistic. Didn't see any pyramids, first of all. Of course they must have been there, so this may have been due to the too strong contrast – I have serious troubles with the microscope. Or the stuff got messed up when I scraped it off the glass.

Anyway, I take a look later.
