04/05 Feb 2026, Rovaniemi. Where is this heat coming from? Not the Suosiola plume that is seen trailing east above the treeline in the middle of the image. All snowguns that I know might be operating, are far in the direction where the Suosiola plume is trailing. Could it be natural? Well, daylight is approaching and I need go for some errands, hopefully the source is revealed. In any case this is crap diamond dust. Walked out to a neighboring darker parking lot and switched on spotlight: no other halos visible.
